About noon last Thursday the large two-story residence on the Bell place at the southwest edge of town was discovered to be afire. The fire had not gained much headway when first discovered but on account of an inadequate water supply the building could not be saved. The place belongs to Mr. and Mrs. John Dhut who recently came here from Nebraska and who were living in the house at the time of the fire. Most of their furniture and other household goods were saved. This was one of the best houses in Norwood and its burning is a distinct loss to the community as well as being a great personal loss to the Dhut family. The fire is supposed to have started either from a defective flue or from a spark on the kitchen roof. The loss on the building was partially covered by insurance but there was no insurance on the contents. We understand that a new house will be erected in the near future.

Tuesday, July 9th, Mrs. Mildred Langston filed a petition before Judge H. J. Schofield asking for a writ of habeas corpus to secure the custody of Freddie Langston, her 22 months old son, whom she alleged was being illegally detained by his father, Fred Langston. For the convenience of witnesses the case was tried at Mountain Grove at 8:30 Tuesday evening. After hearing all the evidence in the case Judge Schofield awarded the custody of the child to the mother until final disposition of the case by the circuit court. The Langstons have been separated for some time and divorce proceedings are not pending. Mrs. Langston was at the home of her mother in Kansas where she had the child. It seems that the father went out there and by stating that he wanted to have a visit with his small son got possession of him and without consent of the mother brought him back to Missouri.

October 31, 1929:

Monday evening about 5 o'clock, a man drove up in front of the Bank of Mansfield at Mansfield, in a new Ford coupe. He entered the bank and under the pretence of wanting a check cashed got the employees together and then drew a gun and forced them to hand over the money to him. After getting the cash, $4290.00, he locked the five persons who were present in the vault and made his escape. However, the employees were able to unlock the vault from the inside within a short time and gave the alarm. As court was in session at Hartville a number of officers were there and as they were preparing to start in search of the robber, a car of the description given passed through town on Highway No. 5. Deputy Sheriffs C. H. Cole of Norwood and Mose Gray of Macomb deputized Willie Cole with his high-powered Whippet car and started in pursuit, overtaking the bandit car about two and a half miles north of town, where he ran into another car and stopped on account of the wreck. The officers were already close upon the fleeing car when the accident occurred. The man was quickly placed under arrest, his car searched and the money found in his hat in the car seat with his gun and a pair of knucks by the side of it. Other officers soon arrived and the man and his car was taken back to Hartville where the man was turned over to Sheriff Crewse who placed him in jail to await trial. The robber was a man apparently about 25 years of age. He gave his name as Thompson and his home as Tecumseh, Nebr. The officers are to be commended for their quick and efficient work as the man was captured within about 30 minutes from the time the robbery was committed. Young Thompson appeared before Judge Skinker Tuesday, plead guilty and was sentenced to 25 years in the penitentiary. Thus in less than 24 hours after the robbery was committed sentence had been passed upon him.

J. E. Cahill, of Springfield, who has just been appointed supervisory receiver for all closed banks in the territory adjacent to Springfield, came to Norwood Saturday to take charge of the affairs of the Ryan Banking Co. here. Mr. Cahill will have the assistance of J. A. Randall in the work at this place. The process of liquidation will be carried out as rapidly as possible and at no more expense than is necessary. It is expected that the new plan of the State finance department whereby one man supervised the work of liquidation of all closed banks in a given territory will materially lesson the cost to the depositors. Mr. Cahill is mailing out notices to all against whom the bank holds notes and he informs us that it will be of great assistance to those in charge if everyone will be prompt in making settlement and will enable them to settle with the depositors without unnecessary delay. It is not the intention of Mr. Cahill to be unreasonable in pushing collections but of course everyone understands that the money must be paid in without undue delay. Mr. Cahill has been in charge of the liquidation of the Holland bank in Springfield where his work has proven very satisfactory to all concerned. The committee of depositors of the Ryan Bank as mentioned in the Index last week found upon investigation that conditions were such that reorganization was impossible.

November 7, 1929:

Sheriff M. J. Crewse of Hartville was a pleasant caller at the Index office Saturday and while here informed us that he felt that our write-up of the capture of the Mansfield Bank robber last week did him an injustice in that it left the impression that he had nothing to do with the capture any more than to lock the man up after other officers had brought him in. It was not the intention of this newspaper to be unfair to anyone but we simply published the news as furnished us by our regular correspondent. However, we are glad to give the facts as stated to us by Mr. Crewse: As soon after the robbery as Mr. Freeman, cashier of the bank, was able to get out of the vault where he and other employees had been locked, he hurried to the telephone and called Mr. Crewse, informing him of the robbery and telling him that it was thought the man had gone towards Springfield. Upon receiving this message, Mr. Crewse immediately called together the officers then in Hartville and told them of the robbery and instructed them to be on the lookout for the bandit car. In the meantime, the sheriff returned to the telephone and began calling the surrounding towns to sound the alarm and have the officers of Rogersville, Marshfield, Lebanon and all other towns where there was a possibility of his passing through to be on guard. All of this took time and while the sheriff was so engaged the robber cam through Hartville and the officers who were on the lookout for him gave chase with results as stated in the article last week. We are sure that those who know Mr. Crewse and are familiar with his past record have no doubt as to his courage and ability, and it is evident that both he and the deputies who were working under him did their duty well in this particular case.

Mention was made last week of the birthday celebration of Uncle Narve Allen. Although 81 years of age Uncle Narve is active and in good health. He claims the distinction of being one of the oldest pioneers in Wright County as well as one of the oldest school teachers. His parents settled on Clarks Creek in this county when he was two years old and he has lived here ever since.

Amos Caudle was born in Yadkin County, North Carolina, Nov. 15, 1842. There he grew to manhood and in 1861 was united in marriage to Mary Hare. To this union were born 13 children, four of whom preceded him in death. In 1869 he moved to Johnston County, Mo. In 1871 he bought the old home place and moved his family to Wright County, residing on this farm until his death. At the time he came here there were only a few settlers and these lived in rude log cabins with just a few acres of ground cleared around each cabin. About 40 years ago he united with the Missionary Baptist Church and was ordained to preach by this church, being engaged in the ministry for 25 years. He built the church that bears his name with his own money. He was active in the development of the community and lived to see great progress in all lines. His first wife departed this live in 1903 and in 1904 he was united in marriage to Dora Yandle. To this union also 13 children were born, two having died in infancy. He died October 27, 1929, at the age of 86 years, 11 months and 9 days, after an illness of about 3 weeks. He was buried in the family cemetery at the Caudle Church and by his own request no funeral service was held, only a life sketch being read by a friend, after which his body was guietly consigned to the silent tomb. He leaves a wife, 20 children, 59 grandchildren, 91 great-grandchildren and 5 great-great-grandchildren. The surviving children by his first marriage are: W. H. Caudle of Selma, Calif.; J. H. Caudle of Winfield, Kansas; N. E. and A. C. Caudle, Mrs. Sarah Jarrett, Mrs. Cora Gosvenor, Mrs. Vicie Chadwell, Mrs. Hattie Chadwell and Mrs. Lizzie Moody, all of Norwood, Mo.
