Will of William Haas, a native of the Village of Hobitzheim near Damstadt in Germany

To my wife, Maria...

My son, William O. is a brutal son and a headless spend-thrift, I exclude him hereby from all inheritance and partition of my personal and real estate.

His son, William, my grandson, a child about four months of age we have in our family to nurse and which we will try to raise and educate to a fit and useful member of the human family.

My daughter, Fredericka married against my most paternal remonstrances, a brutal and a worthless subject and giving thereby a most pernicious example to demoralize perhaps some of my other children. This fellow, in my absence from home, insulted my wife, my daughter, Rosine and Wilhemmina with the most brutal, vulgar, and disrespectful language, closing with "I take my revenge on you". Never have we given this branded individual any cause for such insulting behavior and I pray my children to beware of him forever-he is an unclean spirit I exclude her also as above from all inheritance and partition of my personal and real estate property.

To my grand daughter, Marie Roeschel, or to her father, Ernest Roeschel...

To my daughters: Rosine E. Roeschel and Elice, wife of J. Helfrich and Wilhelmine and to the children of my daughter, Fredericka...

To my sons, Archibald and Andrew...

To my children by my first wife Mary, Amanda, and Joseph...

I will only say further that it is not my wish that a son of mine should be placed behind a counter where he will be apt to become familiarized with arts of deception. With his mind intent only on frivolities and have his intellect annihilated nor is it my wish that he should become a member of any of the so called professions and left with a decided predilection for some of them. He should appear to have a mind particularly adapted to its exercise and for unswerving success in it. An unmistakable predilection and fitness for any pursuit in life should in my opinion be disregarded.

And further should my son, Joseph, when he has attained twenty one years in life have contracted habits of idleness and dissipation or either of them then I will he shall receive only one tenth of the part that might otherwise be coming to him and that the residue of his sister, Mary.

I make no provision for my present wife in this my last will and testament in consideration of her personal and other estate which would have been invested in me by our marriage having been second to her for her separate use by our marriage contract.

My friends, Washington Adams and Jordan O'Bryan, Exe.
