Pike County--A county in the eastern part of the State, bounded on the north by Ralls County and the Mississippi River; east by the Mississippi River; south by Lincoln and Montgomery Counties, and west by Audrain and Ralls Counties.

In 1808 Captain Robert Jordan, the brother of John M. Jordan, prominent in the early history of Pike County, came from South Carolina with his family and settled upon Buffalo Creek, about five miles south of the present site of Louisiana. Fear of the Indians caused him to leave, but in 1811 he returned, accompanied by a number of others from South Carolina, including the Mackey, Templeton, Brandon and Henry families.

The first land sales of the public domain now comprising Pike County were held in the winter of 1817-18 at St. Louis. The land was held at the minimum price of $2.50.

Pike County was originally a part of the District of St. Charles. December 14, 1818, the Territorial Legislature passed an act creating Lincoln and Pike Counties. Pike County was named in honor of General Zebulon Pike, the noted explorer, who, in 1805 explored the upper Mississippi. When organized Pike County included all that portion of Missouri Territory north of Lincoln County, extending to the Iowa line and west to the limits of the Territory. Owing to its great size it was facetiously called the "State of Pike," a name that is occasionally still applied to it.

The first court of Pike County was the circuit court. The first meeting of the court was held at the house of Obadiah Dickerson, the town of Louisiana, April 12, 1819. Honorable David Todd, judge; Michael J. Noyes, clerk, and Samuel K. Caldwell, sheriff.

The first work of the court was to lay out the townships of Calumet, Buffalo, Peno and Mason, and to appoint constables for each township as follows: Thomas F. Trunsdells, for Calumet; Walter Conway, for Buffalo; J. Lane, Sr., for Peno, and Joseph Gash, for Mason.

The members of the first grand jury were: James Watson, Willis Mitchell, Samuel Watson, David James, Jeppe H. Lane, Samuel Small, William See, Moses Kelly, Samuel McGary, William R. Pirkins, John Bary, David Watson, John Turner, Hugh Gordon, James Markey, John Venable, John M. Jordan, John Lewis, Samuel Kean, Ephraim W. Beasley and James Crider.

On the first page of Record A, County Court of Pike County, the notes of the clerk show that "at the courthouse in Louisiana April 9, 1821, "pursuant to an act of the General Assembly entitled, 'An Act Establishing Circuit and County Courts,' approved November 28, 1820, the first county court was held.

The first county judges were Edmund Mountjoy, William Stephenson and William Boggs. The county court met at Louisiana until Bowling Green became the county seat in 1823.

Pike County has furnished an number of men prominent in public life, including one judge of the supreme court, Thomas J. C. Fagg; six circuit judges, Ezra Hunt, A. H. Buckner, T. C. J. Fagg, Gilchrist Porter, Elijah Robinson and Priestly H. McBride; five members of Congress, A. H. Buckner, Gilchrist Porter, George W. Anderson, David P. Dyer and Champ Clark; one United States Senator, J. B. Henderson, and many others who gained fame in various fields.
